A Personal Message from Mary

Dear MasterMinder,

April was a month of amazing and wonderful changes in our lives. We have just purchased a water front property with a diamond-in-the-rough home to renovate within this month of May.

As we approached the renovation last month, we encountered many contractors who were quick to tell us that we don't want (or can't have) what we want! Of course, that only made us more determined to manifest amazing creative solutions... and we are absolutely thrilling at how the Universe is instantly guiding and directing us to all of the right people to bring in on the various projects. We decide daily to see ourselves contracting with the professionals who are enjoyable, innovative, solution-generating thinkers.

We've simply said arrivederci baby to those who say, "Call me if I don't get back to you" or "You don't want to do that to your basement" or "That can't be done for less than the house is worth!"

When working with someone who is not vibrationally matching your vision, everything slows down. Calls are not returned for days, contracts don't get signed, and you can observe the sluggish energy to what is not unfolding easily. As you decide to let those people go energetically and affirm less effort, more results, amazing things begin to occur immediately.

I invite you to look at your world, and decide to see yourself attracting people who are willing to see the results you want. When you do this, your entire world begins to change.

As we move into the beautiful, flowering month of May, our daily expectation continues to be:

*Everything is unfolding for us as smooth as silk and as sweet as the fragrance of lilacs!
Thank You God!*

in Light & Love & Miracles,
Mary

Your Inner Guidance will create the pathway to meeting all of the demands of your life. I wrote MasterMinding 101 Online Course primarily because it's where I learned how to really hear my Inner Guidance. MasterMinding evolved for me from an authoritarian model, which focuses on "accountability" and "brainstorming" i.e., human methods of over efforting, to make things happen, to a model of simply learning to hear and trust my Inner Guidance to receive clarity.

Radio Interview

If it's your intention to learn more about MasterMinding you can listen to this radio interview I did in March with host David McMillian, a Licensed Marriage Therapist, with his own radio show called Strategies for Living. David contacted me because he became interested in MasterMinding after watching my YouAreTheLightMovie.com and wanted to learn more about my system of MasterMinding.

5 STEPS TO THE SEEING POWER OF 2

We have all heard by now about the power of visualization. We see extraordinary results occur for the athletes that are known to utilize their seeing power in preparation for every major event that they are competing for. We are also becoming knowledgeable about how visualizing affects the physiology of the body in healing disease.

If I told you to spend a few minutes every morning visualizing yourself getting sick, would you do it? No, of course not. This is a time tested adage, and yet we continue to visualize repeatedly worst case scenarios unfolding in our lives. Whether it's waiting for the other shoe to drop, or seeing, believing and expecting our desires to be difficult to attain. We are literally and methodically using the power of visualization to shape our experiences in any and all areas of our lives.

Many of us have a learned expectation to make things worse than they may need to be. We do this by focusing our attention, and the momentum it will build, upon what could go wrong. And the interesting thing is that the key to creating new solutions is completely dependent on where you decide to direct and focus your attention. It's what you decide to see. This means you must be willing to tune into your current visual expectations and no longer allow what's been your reality to render you powerless for one more second.

We all have habits of thought. What we believe, what we've experienced and have come to believe as the only reality and the only way that things can happen, these are habits.

You already know that athletes' performance improves dramatically with the power of visualization. Now, here's the big insight: not only is the athlete visualizing the results they seek, they also have a coach, a parent, a friend seeing for them, and with them, too. This is the seeing power of two or more minds coming together in the spirit of harmony and agreement for a definite objective or purpose. The energetic power of two or more people visualizing a preferred outcome, can literally move any mountain in your life.

Step One: Decide who you would like to do this with. It needs to be someone who is like-minded and open to possibilities. You will be seeing for them and they for you. Take your most impossible situation, and dare to see something different with the help of your partner's vision. See the end results you prefer and refuse to see anything less than that. Together you will hold a rigorous vision of the future you are intending to create.

Step Two: Decide when you are going to meet or talk on the phone. Make it a weekly date, like "every Monday for lunch."

Step Three: Decide what you want them to see for you. You can ask them to see you accomplishing something that has been difficult, with ease and efficiency. Whatever you ask them to see for you, you will want to indicate your new intention that it be easier than you've ever known it to be. Use the language, "What I'd prefer to have as my experience is _____," "See me _____" or "See for me that _____."

Examples:

See me opening the doors of my industry with new, innovative rich ideas to create financial surplus and ease.

See for me that all necessary components come together perfectly for the closing this big honkin' deal.

See me fully and completely restoring my health and reducing my weight in the ways that are best.

See my child now performing happily and productively in school.

See for me that my teenager now drives the car with utmost mindfulness and carefulness.

See my loved one now experiencing great joy, fulfillment and success in their work.

See for me that my partner and I re-ignite our love and enjoyment of each other.

If you have an emergency, you can always call your partner with a "quickie" visualization. For example, you're about to enter a pivotal meeting, and you are blindsided by new, negative or contradictory information, or a hostile, authoritarian figure. Excuse yourself and call your partner. Quickly explain what's problematic for you and what you want your partner to now see for you. Be definitive and commanding of the end result you want to see coming from this meeting. You will feel powerful energy and confidence surge through you immediately upon entering the meeting.

Step Four: Each time you meet with your partner, start your conversations with your most recent successes and miracles. Talk about how you felt your partners' seeing power enveloping you and moving you energetically toward the things you asked them to see for you. Next you will briefly discuss whatever is problematic. You will then simply decide what you prefer your partner see for you instead. Your partner then repeats back to you what they are now agreeing to see for you.

Step Five: As you each take your turn in determining what you want the other to see, you will begin to feel the energy come through you. The seeing power of two or more people in agreement has tremendous energetic power that you will feel coming through you instantly. By the mere act of having someone listening fully to what you are deliberately deciding for, and asking them to join with you in visualizing, you have accessed the power that literally moves mountains.

You will feel it, you will know it and you will experience life differently every time you join with two or more people in visualizing a preferred outcome. When you do this, you will experience the peace and the power of MasterMinding.

When two or more people coordinate in a spirit of harmony and work toward a definite objective or purpose, they place themselves in position, through the alliance, to absorb power directly from the great storehouse of Infinite Intelligence, MasterMinding is in plays.
